

SCHOOLS RE-OPEN FRIDAY DOUBLE SESSIONS

Substitutes being recruited . . .

Palm Beach County schools are scheduled to reopen on Friday despite the absence of approximately 1300 teachers who failed to report to work on Monday. The County School Board voted to reopen the schools and to operate them on two four hour sessions daily starting Friday. Arrangements concerning the division of students, assignments of teachers, bus schedules and other details are being worked out.

The Board chose not to accept the resignations of the teachers who walked out until their regularly scheduled meeting next Monday. The motion to accept the resignations was tabled until Monday to allow any teachers who wish to return to the classroom.

The teachers who are not involved in the walk out will be paid supplementary wages for the extra load that they will carry and the additional hours they will put in during the school day. William Whitten, assistant business affairs, Clyde Harris, assistant superintendent in administration, and Charlie M. Wilson, director of personnel, are to establish a pay plan and present it to the board for budgetary changes.

Some adjustments will be made for non-instructional personnel since it will require a realignment of their work hours. At the request of Board Member Robert Hooker, additional personnel will be assigned to the Glades area to recruit substitutes here.

Editorial:

We wish to thank those teachers who in spite of many pressures chose to put their professional integrity and their devotion to the education of youth above that of self interest. It is unfortunate that we read only about those who chose to ignore their moral and contracted commitments.

BELLE GLADE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

February 20, 1968

Honorable Judge James C. Donaghy
Circuit Court of Palm Beach County
West Palm Beach, Florida

Dear Judge Donaghy:

Several weeks ago an injunction was issued by you restricting the enforcement of the new Florida law which would have limited activities of peddlers in the Glades area.

It is so easy for these out of town peddlers to rush in on pay day, up thousands and thousands of dollars from our community and disappear. The migrant workers suffer because of inferior, over priced merchandise. They have no chance for selection and no place to return defective products. (Of which there are plenty). Western Palm Beach County suffers because legitimate merchants find it impossible to compete with peddlers who have overhead and pay no local taxes. Local merchants here have always welcomed, and will always welcome, responsible competition. But sharp hit and run sales practices undermine the stability and progress of any community.

Local residents depend on our stores staying open and stocking quantities of merchandise. If the peddler situation is revived, most of our stores will have to close and our entire community would soon be peddler territory. In our area, class stores here, in which to shop, fully as much as folks on the Coast.

Western Palm Beach County and the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce will be watching with a hawk's eye, any decision or legislation regarding peddlers. We must, clean stable business practices here are the life blood of the Glades future.

Judge Donaghy, we believe you to be a fair man. We know that you intend your decisions to be equitable. We are hopeful that when this problem arises again you will consider the permanent and disastrous affect that peddlers have on the entire future of Western Palm Beach County.

Very Sincerely,
President, Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce

Chamber Speaks Out On Peddler Situation

Former Pro Returns

Golf Pro William (Bill) Schriber is back again as pro at the Belle Glade Municipal Country Club, after an absence of 22 years. Bill took over the pro shop on Feb. 14 and is already busy giving lessons.

As the first golf pro at the Country Club when it was a private club, Bill has many friends here. He came here in 1942 and stayed four years and left when his daughter Daphne was stricken with polio, the first in this area.

Leaving Belle Glade he was pro at the Naval Air Station Patterson River, Md., at the Golf Course there, for 12 years, was pro at the Green Spring Valley Country Club; Laurel Pines, Md. for four years before going to McDonnellburg, Pa. at the Great Cove Country Club.

"I'm glad to be back after all these years and intend to make this my home," Bill said. "I've seen a good potential in young golfers and have quite a few taking lessons." He intends to improve playing conditions on the course. There is a lot of work to be done on the course and greens, he stated.

The Schribers have purchased the house of Jack Gorham, 417 S.E. 2nd and will be moving in as soon as their furniture arrives from McDonnellburg the latter part of next week, they hope. Mrs. Schriber will arrive the first part of next week.

Play is picking up every day, and there are many tourists from out of state taking advantage of the course and club facilities.

Lessons are available by calling the Country Club. The Ladies Golf Association also invites anyone interested in golf to come out to Ladies Day.

THOUGHT OF THE WEEK

With a good companion even Hell is as Heaven. —GERMAN PROVERB

SENSING THE NEWS

By Thurman Sensing

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

The Barbarians Within

Though the strike of garbage men has ended in New York City, the nation should not soon forget this appalling example of urban tyranny that exposed the country's biggest city to the threat of disease and caused a vast and rich metropolis to wallow in filth.

New York City, during the strike by the garbage collectors, was like a scene from the decline and fall of the Roman Empire. When classical civilization collapsed, following invasion by barbarians, the beautiful cities of antiquity became wastelands. Super aqueducts that brought fresh water from the mountains fell into a state of disrepair. Early plumbing systems that gave the ancient cleanliness and good health were wrecked as a result. It was not until the 19th century that cities again equaled the sanitary conditions of municipalities in ancient Rome.

The New York garbage men's strike suggests that the clock is being turned back in our own times. America's biggest city hasn't the excuse that it has been invaded by foreign barbarians. Instead, it is being invaded by barbarians within — men who display brutal contempt for the rights of society.

To the men who called the garbage men's strike, it apparently made no difference that the city became a place of filth and that the conditions for epidemic were created. The rights of the majority were treated with contempt by the strikers. This is increasingly the way in the United States.

A few years ago, New York City was crippled for a time by a strike of transit workers. The metropolis, which among other things serves as the heart of American finance, was brought to a halt because subway workers demanded a pay raise.

The union contempt of the public interest is not limited to New York City, of course. Union tyranny threatens all 50 states and all the essential systems of our society.

While the New York garbage men's strike was in progress, trainmen called a strike against several railroads. Fortunately, this was not a prolonged strike, but it demonstrated the ability of one union to deprive cities and states of necessary transportation facilities, to jeopardize commerce and to cause inconvenience to the public.

Tragically, many officeholders, who should defend the right of the public in general created by the union special interest, refuse to antagonize the National Guard to remove garbage from the streets of New York City even though public health was menaced. The Governor apparently didn't want to earn the enmity of powerful union leaders. The unionists had threatened a general strike if the Guard were used to clean up the city.

Perhaps it will take the occasion of a general strike to mobilize the public against union power — to make Americans realize the outrageous abuses of power which unions practice against cities, states and the nation itself.

The United States needs fresh leadership on many great questions of the day, foreign and domestic. But nowhere is courageous leadership more imperative than in dealing with union domination. This domination must be brought to a halt or our society will falter and eventually collapse in ruins.

America is the wealthiest, most modern country in the world, but keeping it well and strong requires inner discipline on the part of the American people. It requires that the principle of lawabiding, responsible people have the decisive voice in community and national affairs. Survival of our great country is dependent on the rule of law and the certainty that small groups of irresponsible, lawless people will not be given a franchise to wreck communities or to plunge them into a state of chaos such as existed in New York City during the garbage men's strike.

The experience in Memphis, Tennessee in this connection is refreshing. The garbage collectors in that city, apparently encouraged by the results in NYC, have also gone on strike. Mayor Henry Loeb says the strike is illegal and that no discussion of money or other matters will be held until the strikers return to work. We need more Mayor Henry Loeb, plus governors who will back them up, of course.

Letter To The Editor

Quality Education

Editor
The Belle Glade Herald
Belle Glade
Florida

Dear Sir:

In reply to your editorial OUR AMBITIOUS GOVERNOR I would like to say that Governor Kirk is the first governor in many years that has considered the masses of people above the politician. He did leave Tallahassee, but only after he had extended the special session of the legislature, after he had offered a $400 million education bill, and after he had, in my opinion, gone more than half way to try to solve the CRISIS in education. The Democratic controlled legislature reduced and COMPROMISED this bill to $254 million dollars, not the Governor. The Governor had campaigned on a platform of no new taxes and to in order to honor his word, he put a STRING on this bill — allow the people to vote on whether or not to increase their tax burden on themselves. I personally appreciate this STRING-attached bill.

Just what do the teachers and the FEA want. If higher salaries IS NOT the issue, what is? How can you provide QUALITY EDUCATION if you don't show up to teach. If better supplies and textbooks is the issue, why were 30 odd cubic yards of textbooks, in Palm Beach County, dumped.

The FEA has mentioned the figure of $963.00 expenditure, per student, as necessary to give a child QUALITY EDUCATION. The United States Government allows you $600.00 to feed, clothe, house, educate and give medical attention to a child.

Is the FEA willing to put their proposals and program before ALL the people for approval or rejection?

Local Business

The government and private groups have renewed efforts to protect the consumer from misleading advertising. "Truth in Advertising" legislation of variegated hue is being widely sponsored.

It is significant that the two main enterprises concerned with advertising are yet concerned about the idea of keeping advertising truthful. Retailers and newspapers are the nation's major advertisers and the most widely used medium. Retailers and newspapers welcome any effort to keep advertising honest.

Both of these local businesses operate under the assumption that advertising must be truthful. Both the newspaper and the local retailer lose when advertising is misleading.

No newspaper publisher is so naive that he believes his friends and neighbors will maintain trust in a newspaper which knowingly prints falsehoods. Every retailer knows that he can be held to account for dishonest claims in printed advertising.

Printed advertising is a permanent record of promises. The retailer knows only too well that the consumer is likely to bring a newspaper advertisement with him to check on specific promises. The publisher or knows that the public and the law holds him responsible for everything he prints.

Of course misleading advertising exists. It is nearly always found in newspaper advertising. It can't be checked for proof or held accountable locally. It may be found in broadcast media and in non-local printed matter. However, when it appears in local newspaper advertising, misleading advertising is an oversight or an accident.

The local newspaper and the retailer are eager to learn of misleading advertising. Both gain by correcting it.

THE DEEP END

By TOM HERRAN

HE'S A "PUSHOVER"!

The Pushover...

Perhaps the Pushover is getting angry, or at least he hopes so. At the start of the current Korean crisis there were only eight United States aircraft in South Korea, now there are 185 jets. This buildup has cost us some measure of security in other parts of the world, but perhaps it will convince the North Koreans that Uncle Sam really wants his boat back.

What will happen if the North Koreans won't release the captured crew of the Pueblo? They say they'll go to war with us. The United States cannot afford the men and material to fight another "limited" war in the far east, so our only alternative is an all out nuclear war that would wipe out the human race.

Why is it that we are so short of alternatives when we are being blackmailed by a small communist country like North Korea? The reasons for this are simple, we have for several years been led to believe that we were winning in Vietnam, and that we could save millions by cutting back our reserves, by limiting the military on their spending and by basing our strategy on our Atomic arms stockpile.

History will prove that the American people were misled by the Johnson administration on all of these counts, while they padded payrolls and over spent on hundreds of corrupt domestic welfare programs. If we were to go to war tomorrow with North Korea our troops there, would be as ill equipped to fight as they were in 1961 and I'm afraid they would suffer the same tragic fate. The same men that made the decisions that has caused the United States to be called a "Pushover" are the same men that will cause the end of the human race for political reasons.

The Farm Front

By Doyle Conner,

Commissioner of Agriculture

According to a recent survey by the Urban Land Institute, Florida is expected to have a population of seven and one-half million people by 1975.

By the end of this century, our population is expected to nearly double to an expected 14 million.

The Florida region, experts say, will become one of the three most urban zones by the year 2000.

As Commissioner of Agriculture for a state which is rapidly assuming a major, important role in the production of food for a hungry world, I find these predictions very disturbing.

The goal of water quality management is to provide the optimum use of our waters for human consumption, recreation, industry, agriculture, the propagation of fish and wildlife and for other beneficial and legitimate purposes.

There is no alternative to pollution control water. If Florida agriculture is to meet its responsibilities in the overall scheme of world food production.

We must have a clean, unadulterated supply of water, if we are to reach this goal and maintain today's high standard of living, as well as meet the essential needs of a healthy environment for the future.

Florida is growing more rapidly than any state in the nation. We are now the ninth most populous state, with nearly six million residents.

Contrary to popular belief, human consumption of water has minimal effect on water levels, conservation experts insist. It is the local problems, which have little relation to the national picture can be a major factor in causing temporary shortages.

At the present time, for example, Southern Florida is experiencing low water tables, although it continues to have some of the heaviest rainfall in the nation.

The problem facing South Florida is the lack of facilities to keep rain from running into the sea before it has a chance to soak into the ground.

The difficulty in insuring local water systems has its roots in politics, too. Some local water boards are hesitant — and some downright refuse — to suggest legislation that would mean raising local taxes to clean up their systems.

Yet, more and more, our beautiful rivers and lakes are being polluted by industrial wastes and our forest lands and foliage destroyed through carelessness.

Taking a negative approach, federal officials say this is something that drought helps to cure. If a regional water shortage occurs, the public will erumble, then put up with temporary water restrictions as best it can.

But, if one town cannot get town, while a neighboring town has a supply, then public action is instantaneous and action generally follows.

Last spring, South Florida experienced its worst drought in 20 years. The drought was brought on by what weather experts cited as "a deficiency in the amount of rainfall in central and south Florida during the past several years."

No matter what the cause, the lack of water resulted in losses of several hundreds of head of cattle and millions of dollars to cattle producers.

Citrus plantings also were severely damaged in the drought area, as were other fruits and vegetables.

During this same period, the nation's wheat belt barely escaped disaster, when struck by drought and a spring freeze, which laid bare 13 million acres and destroyed 20 percent of the nation's winter wheat crop seeded last year.

Programs of good water management could have gone a long way in preventing these crippling losses to our agriculture.

On a national scale, we are expected to use more than 325 billion gallons of water a day this year. By 1980, the amount is expected to increase to about 600 billion gallons daily and by the year 2000, probably more than 900 billion gallons.

Agriculture will account for much of the total usage, mostly for consumption by livestock, in processing food and for irrigation purposes.

In Florida, the citrus industry alone uses an estimated average of 122 billion gallons of water each year.

This is the amount for intensive irrigation of only one-half the state's total of 750,000 acres of citrus groves.

In Polk County alone — where the person produced more citrus than the entire state of California — "peak" irrigation takes place six times each year and consumes 24 billion, 438 million, 600 thousand gallons of water.

State Park Reserves Camp Sites
Tallahassee — In an effort to reduce the number of "turn-aways" — campers who travel sometimes many miles to reach a campground, only to be told upon arrival the camping area is full — Florida State Parks today began accepting reservations for camp sites.

State Parks Director Bill Miller said that some 100,000 people were turned away from Florida State Parks campgrounds during the last fiscal year. "We want to assure campers a place to spend the night," Miller said.

Miller noted that a $2.50 reservation fee will be charged to help defray the heavy administrative load expected to result from the new system. The reservation must be for at least four days, with a maximum stay of 14 days, and must be made directly with the park by mail or in person. It will not be confirmed until the $2.50 reservation fee and the camping fee for the reserved period is paid to the park. Telephone reservations will not be accepted.

Each of the 25 parks that offer camping will be required to fill out and record in the park files before the reservation is considered valid. Persons wishing to make reservations should write the state park of their choice for an application form. The Tallahassee park system headquarters will not make reservations.

Disillusionment

Learning Eddie McAllister were elevated shoes. Finding out Roy Rogers was allergic to horses. Learning Dean Martin doesn't drink. Margaret Cross and Eddie Prevatt not arguing. Mark and Melissa going together for a month without breaking up. Brenda Webster doing her own homework. Barbara Dexter wearing slow. Mr. Tullio driving Indian boots to school.

Jimmy Baker being in 1st period class time. Queen Wilson not playing basketball. Ronnie Ratliff being perfectly healthy. Something different to do on weekends. President Johnson burning his draft card and leading peace marches. Gerald Watson coming to school all five days a week. Not graduating. No one throwing eggs at Halloween.

Rafael Viamontes keeps his eyes on the ball as it passes from one player to the next. Here he receives the ball and ups the score for the Rams.

Viamontes High Scorer

Rafael Jose Viamontes, a transfer student from Coral Park in Miami, has well earned the title of Outstanding Player this week. With an average of almost 19.7 points per game, he has helped the Rams earn their title in the conference this week. Shooting a sizzling 65 per cent, Viamontes established himself as Palm Beach County's layup king. Basketball Coach Therrill Luke remarked "he probably has the best shooting average in the south." It might be interesting to note that Rafael's father, Floro Viamontes, earned the title "All-Conference" in basketball while he attended Riverside Military Academy, and his uncle was "All-South." Rafael has also captured over 85 rebounds this year.

Mrs. Scoggins Our School Nurse

Not many students know we have a High School nurse. Mrs. Scoggins comes every Friday morning and gets information about students who are ill at home. She also has conferences with teachers if they feel concerned about any student.

Mrs. Scoggins is extremely interested in teenagers and invites anyone with a problem to make an appointment through Mrs. Rogers, Dean of Girls, for a conference. "I promise everything said will be confidential, from parents, teachers, or doctors if you request it."

Mrs. Scoggins has one teenage daughter and is from Chattanooga, Tennessee. She is a graduate of Vanderbilt University in Nashville, and has taught nursing.

She says, "Medical Care is the fifth largest industry in the United States. There is a shortage in all areas of the profession."

The average salary for a nurse is $5,000 yearly and there are numerous scholarships just waiting to be used. Anyone interested in a scholarship might contact our School nurse.

Three ways to become a registered nurse are: (1) three-year Hospital Diploma Program (2) two-year Associate Arts Degree, and (3) College or University, four-year plan.

Ram Rage

Our Stance In World

Today the United States faces a very serious problem. Should we use our strength against our enemies or should we use diplomatic sources?

The Vietnam situation is one where we must use a little bit of both. We must use our military strength against the National Liberation Front, but we must be very careful about how much we use. Since we are not really involved in an all out war against the North Vietnamese people, we must be very cautious, in seeing that our attacks are made only on military positions. Yet while we sit back and be "very careful" the Viet Cong, don't limit their attacks on any certain objective. The more they kill and destroy the better they like it.

I feel that since we have become so involved in this war, we should fight it like a war, instead of a popularity contest. Even though the communists use harsh tactics, they are still becoming more popular with the common people. Perhaps if we were to take a more aggressive stand, our influence with other nations would be greater. We might not be so easily criticized. If we are going to be called "war hawks" no matter how much we try to avoid conflict, then let us show them what a "war hawk" we can be.

Another incident where diplomatic solutions have failed is the PUEBLO situation. Here we find an out and out act of aggression on the part of the North Korean government. And yet, nowhere, except in the U. S. of course, have you heard any criticism. The United States has stood almost all means, other than force to obtain release of the ship's crew, and have not had any real results. All proposals of a compromise have been refused by North Korea. Even those set up by United Nations.

Should force, now, be used? Can the United States afford the consequences? I think so! So far, our non-aggressive stance in these two situations have gotten us nowhere, and the lives of thousands of Americans are still at stake. We must take a firm stance and draw the line somewhere or we are slowly going to be pushed aside as one of the leading powers in the world. We owe it, not only to ourselves, but to the other countries who look to us for aid.

Clubs

The Student Council met the last half of second period last Thursday, February 15. The members voted on painting the "Go Rams Go" in the corridor and also the "B.G.H.S." They began the painting on Friday afternoon, February 16, and will continue until finished.

It was also decided to take up a collection for those students from the Florida Bible College who make plans to attend Burdine's showing sometime this spring.

DCT
The DCT club is planning for their annual Employers Banquet which will be held in March. This is the time when each of the students takes his host to supper. The group is also planning their part in the State Convention which also is in March. They have a lot of work to do before the convention because they are running Sam Straum for state president and they are sending campaign letters to all the DCT clubs in the state.

ART
The art club met last Thursday night to have a work meeting and also make plans to attend Burdine's showing sometime this spring.

LIBRARY CLUB
This group met last Thursday night to work on posters for the last basketball game of the season. They have made many posters in support of the Rams this year. They have been working on their constitution and it is now nearing completion.

Basketball Highlight

On Friday, February 9, the Rams traveled to Okeechobee for the tenth conference game of the year. After the first quarter Belle Glade was leading 22-16. Okeechobee outscored the Rams in the second quarter to leave the halftime score at 36-31. Quen Wilson poured it on in the third, scoring 10 points, to end the third quarter with Belle Glade leading 50-42. As the final minutes of the game came, the score evened out. With only seconds remaining in the game, the score was tied 62-62. Okeechobee handled the ball as the clock ran out. For the second time this year, the Rams went into an overtime. In the three minutes of overtime only three baskets were made — two by Steve Close and one by Parkerson, (50). For Okeechobee, the game ended 66-64, bringing home another victory for the Rams. Ralph Viamontes was high scorer for the Rams with 20 points. In the evening with 20 points, Wilson and Close both scored 18 points. Four Okeechobee players scored in the double column.

It was Belle Glade all the way when the Rams won their

BGHS Students in Honor Band

Pam Motes and Kathleen Murphy represented Belle Glade High School in the Palm Beach County Senior High Honor Band at Palm Beach Junior College gym on February 10th.

The Band was directed by Dr. Clifton Williams of the University of Miami and by Instrumental Specialist James Monroe. Among the selections conducted by Dr. Williams were two of his own compositions, "The Strategic Air Command" and "Ramparts," which was written for the Air Force Academy.

David Dupere, a freshman, represented the band in the Junior High Honor Band which preceded the High School Honor Band's performance.

President of the Week

As President of the Future Farmers of America, Stephen Butler has had a busy year guiding the club and its activities. He has also made several trips throughout the state to buy cattle for the F.F.A. Farm. Stephen is a Senior this year and is also an active member of Student Council.

Before coming to Belle Glade, Stephen lived in Miami. He transferred to Belle Glade High School when he was in the seventh grade.

When Stephen is not found working on the F.F.A. Farm, he may be seen fishing or just plain goofing-off.

After graduation Stephen plans to attend Miami-Dade Junior College and then transfer to the University of Florida, where he will begin studies in mechanical engineering.

Rust Files Emergency Bills

Tallahassee — Republican State Representative Robert W. Rust drafted and filed two emergency bills in the Florida House of Representatives toughening the present laws relating to LSD and riots. Both bills have been referred to the powerful House Rules Committee, whose chairman is Democrat E. C. Rowell of Wildwood and whose vice-chairman is Democrat Murray Dabbin of Miami; of the 24 members of this committee only 3 are Republicans.

Rust's Anti-riot bill would increase the maximum penalty for rioting or inciting or encouraging a riot from two years to five years in the State penitentiary.

Representative Rust LSD bill would prohibit the possession of LSD and allow the Court to sentence anyone found in possession, up to two years in prison. His bill would also increase the present penalty from 2 years to 5 years in prison, for the sale of delivery of LSD. At the present time there is no federal or Florida law prohibiting the possession of LSD.

LOCAL HOSPITAL PARTICIPANT IN AA BLOOD BANK

The Glades General Hospital Blood Bank is now a participant in the National Clearinghouse Program of the American Association of Blood Banks. This provides a new link in a reciprocal network of nearly 800 blood banks and drawing stations throughout the United States.

In welcoming the bank to the program, Dr. John A. Shively, president of the AAB, stated this is one of the most important services a bank can render for the benefit of its donors and patients.

The purpose of the AAB program is to facilitate the borrowing and lending of blood to alleviate unavoidable shortages and surplus, and to enable the exchange of donor replacement credits between banks. This means that blood replacements can be made at any participating bank in the United States, including Alaska and Hawaii, and transferred through the clearinghouse program for patients receiving blood transfusions locally. Similarly, blood donations for transfer to hospitals in more than 2,800 hospitals in other parts of the country can be made at the Glades General Hospital Blood Bank.

Mrs. Bernice M. Hemphill, Chairman of the AAB National Clearinghouse Program, pointed out that blood is a perishable which must be utilized within 21 days. This program not only makes it convenient for individual to make blood donations but it helps to conserve the nation's blood supply by arranging for inter-bank shipments. Last year, over 300,000 blood replacements were channeled through the system, and nearly 54,000 units of blood were shipped between banks to meet special needs for the benefit of thousands of donors and patients throughout the nation.

Some of the new equipment manufactured by Stuart's Farm Service Incorporated in Canal Point, Fla. is shown at work in these pictures.

The Pelican Pump, which is a portable pump powered from the P.T.O. of a tractor, is designed to fit into any type of canal with only one man operating the tractor. These pumps can be used to flood fields, fight muck fires and irrigate crops. Mr. Stuart says he has a lot of these pumps in the fields working and they are proving to be real money savers for the farmers.

The over head type irrigation unit has proved to be real popular in the grove industry with some leaf crop growers using them in this area. Mr. Stuart states there is over 200 of these units being used every day in the grove industry around Indian-town and the Loxahatchee area.

Mr. Stuart believes the method of how to irrigate the Glades muck land is a growing concern among the area farmers. He says with the Pelican Pump approach a farmer can control his water and irrigate cheaper than has ever been done before.

If you have an irrigation or water control problem, call Stuart's Farm Service in Canal Point and discuss with them their method of handling it.

Some firms using the Pelican Pump, are 715 Farms, Closter Farms, U. S. Sugar Corp., JHW Farms, East Gate Farms, HMA Farms, Minute Maid Co., and Food Fair Groves Corp.

MESSAGE from THE DIRECTOR

Man cannot live in our complex society today without a system of laws. The system is doomed unless the laws are enforced, and the enforcement officer is ineffective unless his efforts to maintain the peace and protect life and property are supported by the government and the people.

The destruction of law enforcement, particularly at the local level, appears to be a prime objective of some dissident groups and individuals in our country. While they have made no appreciable headway, they are creating such a smoke-screen of harassment and intimidation that enforcement of the law is becoming an overwhelming burden for many agencies.

In some areas, the doctrine of dissent is bordering on a doctrine of nihilism. Since local law enforcement represents the first line of defense of our social order, it becomes a primary target of those who challenge established authority. Regardless of the cause they support, many groups seek alterations with local police to gain publicity and sympathy. Consequently, in the rebellious climate, law enforcement must not only cope with an alarming and increasing crime problem but must also defend its very existence.

Currently, there is a move to have Federal courts take over certain local police departments and supervise their operations. According to this ridiculous plan, the courts would place a police department in receivership and appoint a special "master" with full administrative powers over its affairs. The courts could do this country a great service if they would promptly, and with finality, slap down such schemes to undermine and destroy local law enforcement.

Over the years, the FBI has consistently championed the cause of progressive State and local law enforcement. While extending full cooperative services to police agencies and assisting in the training of many thousands of State, county, and city policemen, this Bureau has meticulously kept within the scope of its own authority and avoided any encroachment in areas of responsibility belonging to State and local police.

America has no place for, nor does it need, a national police force. It should be abundantly clear by now that in a democracy such as ours effective law enforcement is basically a local responsibility. In the great area of self-government reserved for States, counties, and cities, the enforcement of the law is not only their duty but also their right. Law-abiding citizens and local officials should vigorously oppose concerted attacks against law enforcement and the devious moves to negate local authority and replace it with Federal police power.

Principal Carl Crawford will be back in the kitchen—but WHAT a kitchen and for WHAT a cause!

BG PTA To Serve Ham Dinners

Lee Cranford and Jon Mann, co-chairmen for the occasion, together with many parents and teachers of the Belle Glade Elementary Parent-Teacher Association will be busy all day Saturday in the spacious new kitchen of the Belle Glade Junior High School preparing for the southern ham dinner which will be served from 5 to 3 p.m. February 24th.

If you like sweet corn picked and cooked the same day you will not want to miss this opportunity. The law promises to be the "best ever" and the hot breads too for "Mrs. Mac" Brown (formerly Mrs. Mac Taggart) and her faithful helpers who will be on hand to give the professional touches. A wide selection of home-made cakes will provide the dessert treat. Take-out service is being offered on a pick-up basis so those unable to attend in person may still participate by sending in for their plates.

It goes without saying that the cause for which the dinner is being given is a worthy one—Air Conditioning. Approximately two-thirds of the Belle Glade Elementary School classrooms now enjoy this necessary convenience and it is hoped anticipated that the job may be completed by the close of the present school year. This is just one of the benefits being planned for this cause.

Chairmen of committees as announced by Mrs. Cranford are as follows: Mrs. R. E. Hotard — tickets; Mrs. John Hooker — vegetable procurement; Mrs. Joe Orsinego — physical arrangements; Mrs. R. V. Allison — vegetable preparation; Mrs. Othar Crawford — dessert and drink; Mrs. Horace Harris — serving line; Mrs. Robert Fincannon—take-out service; Mrs. Herbert Priest — clean up.

Donations are $1.50 for adults and .75 for children. If you have not yet secured your tickets you may call 996-3423 or 996-6753, and remember that the dinner will be served in the new cafeteria of the Junior High School.

Retailers Offers 1,000 New Food Items This Year

The average retailer offers as many as 1,000 new food items this year. Each time you shop you notice new foods among the 8,000 to 10,000 different food items in the supermarket.

You can have real adventure in the supermarket, says Mary Todd, Extension Home Economics Agent.

The ever-changing food retail market grows larger with new foods and new packages. Many of the packages you drop into your basket weren't in existence 10 years ago.

You pass some 320 foods per minutes while you shop. Regardless of the form of the food, you want to get your money's worth. Compare the prices of various forms of particular foods.

Kill this pellitory weed in sugar cane. Use Atrazine. Here's how:

When you see pellitory weed starting to grow, apply Atrazine 80W herbicide, plus a little surfactant. You'll clean out infestations of this winter annual fast and effectively... without hurting cane.

Atrazine is safe to sugar cane. It will not injure your crop when you apply it as directed on the label. And since it's non-volatile, there's no danger of drift to adjacent, sensitive crops.

Even though Atrazine has proved to control pellitory at any stage of growth, early treatment assures best results. With pellitory under control early, you grow more sugar cane per acre.

That's because Atrazine prevents pellitory from interfering with sugar cane tillering. Also, Atrazine helps make soil moisture and nutrients available for your cane, and not for pellitory weed.

So plan now to grow the maximum tonnage of sugar cane from each acre you plant this season. Just use Atrazine to control pellitory weed this winter.

Apply Diazinon for sure control of soil insects in sweet corn and other vegetable crops.

Whether you grow sweet corn or other vegetable crops, you can rely on Diazinon® insecticide to deliver the superior kind of soil insect control that definitely makes bigger and better yields possible.

Diazinon even gives you effective control of those strains of insects which have become resistant to previously used insecticides. So results are more certain when you use Diazinon against cutworms, mole crickets, and wireworms.

What's more, Diazinon delivers long-lasting control without creating residue problems in the crop you treat, or in succeeding crops. Just follow the simple directions on the label. Rates are low, application is easy.

Generally, you can control most soil insects by disking in a broadcast application of Diazinon within one week of planting. You can use either Diazinon AG500 emulsifiable solution in a spray, or apply Diazinon 14G granular with an appropriate spreader.

Since Diazinon is also effective against a wide range of chewing and sucking insects that attack foliage, you can simplify your total insect control program by applying Diazinon foliar sprays during the season.

For sure insect control, order Diazinon today.
